U. S. Agent Tuffe and Mrs. Tuffe were in town a short time, Thursday, on their return to Muscogee from Springfield, Mo.

A cyclone struck the place of Gladys Williams, on Neosho river, Friday last, and demolished a new frame building. Fortunately no person was occupying it at the time.

Mr. Charles Williams, on the Neosho river, has a field of 120 acres of wheat which he is now harvesting with a new self-binding machine. The wheat is said to be of good quality and large yield.

Miss Jane Chambers, youngest daughter of Henry Chambers, Treasurer of the Cherokee Nation, and a most estimable lady, died at the paternal home, near Claremore, Friday, June 13th, aged about 19 years.

Agent Tuffe, when here Thursday last, issued orders for the clearance of the town of several disreputable and unwholesome persons from the State. These orders were both specific and general, and their enforcement will be a source of relief to respectable people.

The International Sunday School Convention convened in Louisville, Ky., last week. About 1000 delegates were present from the United States, Canada, and foreign countries. Among the members were the name of Rev. J. S. Morrow, of Atoka, who is known for his zeal in promoting every good cause in the Territory.

John Wampler, the brute who is charged with the murder of his uncle, and four cousins, near Pottsville, Kan., it is said, worked last season and the season before as a free hand on the P. & O. railroad near Muscogee; that a person answering his description traveling on horseback, remained over night at this place, and has been since seen at Ft. Gibson.

The Misses Wilson, two sisters who have been attending the Baptist University at Tahlequah, returned to their home in the Ottawa Reserve, Thursday. It afforded the Editor great pleasure to meet with these young ladies, whose manners and conversation displayed the benefits they have derived from the admirable training of Prof. Boone and his associates.

Town Marshal Isbell found it necessary to consign to the lock-up, Friday, a barber employed for some time in Mr. Brown's shop, who got on the rampage, and besides using insulting and profane language, endeavored to use a knife upon a person who had deemed it necessary to place him in a horizontal position by a well-directed blow from the shoulder.

W. L. Squire, postmaster at Muscogee, returned, Thursday, from a visit to friends in Massachusetts, and the meeting of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church at Saratoga, N. Y., to which body he was a lay delegate from the Presbytery of the Indian Territory. Mr. Squire is not only a faithful officer, but is a gentleman highly esteemed wherever known, for his personal worth and moral influence.

Mr. James S. Stapler of Tahlequah, who accompanied his family on their way to visit friends at Prairie City, this far, on Friday, informed us that Chief Bushyhead, who expected to return to Washington about this time, is detained at home by severe sickness. This is to be regretted, as the presence of the Chief is needed in co-operation with our efficient delegation to look after the general interests of the country, at the present juncture of affairs before Congress.

Died, after a brief illness, on the 21st inst., at his residence near Coody's Bluff, Cherokee Nation, Mrs. Mary E. Coody, in the 24th year of her age. Her sickness, though short, was attended with great suffering; yet she bore it all with a meek and patient faith in a future reward beyond the grave. She leaves her husband, John H. Coody, and her little son, Richard H. Coody, to mourn her loss. She will be missed by a large circle of acquaintances, who tender their sympathy to the bereaved ones.

Dr. George Frazee, a brother of our townsman, Dr. Morris Frazee, died near Harlan, Wilcox county, Iowa, the 21st ultimo. He was about 35 years of age, and a graduate of the Keokuk College of Physicians and Surgeons. Dr. F. began the experience of life in early youth, tried the hardships of a pioneer outfit to Pike's Peak, did successfully in the mines of Colorado, and, coming the mountains to the Pacific, spent several years in California. Dr. F. passed an examination for appointment as assistant surgeon in the army, but was placed on the list of those failing entrance, when the solution of a fever was made. He leaves a widow and three children.

The CHIEFTAIN acknowledged the receipt of the cards for the marriage, on Thursday, June 25th, at Darlington, I. T., of Mr. George W. Muffet, editor of the Cherokee Transporter, and Miss Lizzie C. Cable of Celina, Ohio. We tender our congratulations and best wishes.

Frazee the Druggist, has a free trial bottle of Dr. Bosanko's Cough and Lung Syrup for each and every one who is afflicted with Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Consumption or any lung affection.

E. R. SHAPARD, P. E.

If the reported location of the town of Look Falls, on the Chickasaw, on the Cherokee outlet, just south of the Kansas line, by an invasion of intruders from that state, be correct, the act is one of such gross and deliberate lawlessness that it calls for the immediate intervention of U. S. authorities and the prompt expulsion of those engaged in this lawless scheme. The poor pretext set up by Payne and his followers for their repeated attempts to occupy the region of country in the Territory called Oklahoma—that it is on government lands, to which the Indian title has been extinguished—can not be pleaded in this case. The land upon which this trespass is made belongs to the Cherokees, and is now in their possession and under their jurisdiction.

They have not parted with their title, and hold it under a patent from the United States, issued in accordance with the provision of laws and treaties in full force and effect. The act is one of pure and unmitigated lawlessness, and should be promptly crushed by the strong arm of the government. There is no excuse for it whatever, and if allowed to continue, will serve the simple purpose of encouraging the vicious and unprincipled characters who hang upon our borders to overrun the country and trample upon the rights of the Indians through brute force and a barefaced disregard of every principle of honesty and good faith. Out with them!

Mr. Tuffe of Coody's Bluff, brought into Vinita, Friday evening, a youth about 15 years old, a full-blooded Chee, who was taken to his home under the following circumstances. The boy, who is said by Mr. George Colbert, who identified him, to be idiotic, says that a white man prevailed on him, while he was on his way to the store at Wealaka to buy coffee for his mother, to turn back and cross the Arkansas river and accompany him to Kansas, under the promise of rewarding him well for his aid in driving horses; that on their arrival near Coody's Bluff, late in the evening, the man sent him into a pasture to drive out a number of horses which he claimed, and that, as he was near the gate with them, a party of men rode up and opened fire on the white man, and that, in moving away, he fell into the hands of the party, who took and delivered him to Mr. Willey. He further stated that the white man was shot, and was lying in the road when he left, holding up his hands and crying out in pain. The horse the young Arab was riding is identified by Mr. Colbert as the property of the boy's family, who has doubtless been induced by some villain from the States to aid him in stealing horses.

Cattle have advanced so much in price within a short time, that it requires not a little sum to buy a few head in order to get a start even in a small way. To command money enough to do so is beyond the ability of very many persons who are compelled to provide a subsistence for themselves and families. In view of this fact, it has occurred to us that such persons, as well as those of larger means, might well consider the expediency and economy of turning their attention to raising more horses, sheep and goats. Suitable care of a small number of these animals would afford the means of food and raiment at a trifling expense to families who have now but a stunted existence. It is well known that large portions of the Cherokee Nation afford abundant pasturage for these smaller animals, which do not support horses and cattle the year round in thirteenth condition. Hogs and sheep probably require more care and feed than persons would be willing to supply, but not so, we believe, with goats. There are large tracts of land unsuitable for profitable cultivation, which would afford good ranges for them. We need hardly state that in many parts of the Territory they afford milk, butter, cheese, fleck and pelts that enter largely into consumption and use among the people. We know several small herds of goats which cost their owners but little care and expense, and which afford in their flesh alone, sufficient compensation for their care. Let those of our people who live in rugged and thinly settled neighborhoods test the value of the goat, and see if it does not possess qualities that will pay well for keeping them.

We intend to celebrate the glorious Fourth in an appropriate manner, and have arranged for a grand picnic, to which the general public will be welcomed. Speeches will be delivered, and the latest music furnished, the wants of the large mass provided for, a fine platform erected for those who wish to dance, in fact something to gratify every taste will be found on the picnic grounds near Willow Springs schoolhouse on the Fourth of July. Turn out, bring your wife, children, mother-in-law, and everything and everybody you can induce to come, and we will have a jolly time.

Dr. J. T. Davis, formerly of Kansas, has located in our neighborhood, and is building up a practice.

The roof was blown from a barn on Big creek, Friday last, and the son of the owner seriously injured.

Among the arrivals on the western train, Tuesday morning, were Hon. C. V. Rogers, Taylor, Foreman and Wm. McClellan, from near Owala.

Wm. M. McCracken, of Chouteau, a Town Commissioner, and owner of some fine and fast stock, is spending the week in town.

Gen. Hatch, U. S. A., as we learn from a gentleman from western Kansas, has arrived at Caldwell, where he may establish his headquarters. He will doubtless soon be under marching orders, and find another "outlet" for the fellows squatting on the Chickasaw. It will be an outlet from the Territory.

In the case of the Cherokee Nation vs. Ground Hog, charged with the murder of John Moore a short time since, near Chouteau, and which was set for a hearing at the court house in Cowlesville District, Monday last, the defense entered an objection to Judge Mayes of the Supreme Court on account of relationship to the deceased. The case will be reported by him to one of his associates, and another time set for a trial. Without referring to this particular case, we may remark that this plea is carried to a ridiculous extent, and there should be a limit fixed by law, beyond which it should not be allowed. As now applied, the objection to judges because of relationship by blood and affinity entail much unnecessary delay and expense in the trial of causes, without subserving the ends of justice or an impartial trial.

Academy Commencement.

The second annual commencement of Worcester Academy is in progress as we go to press, and celebrates the close of the first full year of the Academy, as it will be remembered last year was only a partial one. The exercises began Sunday afternoon, June 15th, with a missionary meeting under the auspices of the Young People's Religious Society of the Academy. Miss Durham, president of the society, presided. Miss Pinkerton, for several years missionary in Japan, gave a lecture descriptive of the people and her work there. She had a large collection of utensils, weapons, ornaments etc., which she exhibited explaining the use. Altogether the lecture was incomparable. If it had been known what it was the house would have been crowded. We hope she may repeat here at some future time.

On Sunday evening Prof. Cundall preached to the students and a crowded house what he called the "Baccalaureate" sermon; which occupied about an hour and a quarter. It was full of good advice and he showed that the true aim should be to do something good and not only "to do no harm."

Monday morning was occupied by examinations at the Academy, and in the afternoon a piano recital was given by the music scholars. Many showed touches of melody and many could not see as they commonly do, but notwithstanding the great and peculiar embarrassment universal with inexperienced players, they acquitted themselves very creditably and in many instances admirably.

In the evening was the address by the Worcester Literary Society at their anniversary. The President, H. C. Chambers, presided and read a complimentary address to the members of the society, after which he introduced Rev. H. C. Crane of North Springfield, Mo., as speaker of the evening. His subject was "Christianity."

Breakfast, dinner, supper, and house, just received at Balentine's.

and the address was packed full of witty and pungent sayings. No newspaper report could do it justice, and those who missed it missed a rare treat.

Tuesday morning concluded the examinations at the Academy. The Kindergarten exercises took place Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Miss Durham, the teacher, assisted by Miss Mary Davis in leading and Miss Flossie Stephens at the piano. A more earnest and interested company of juveniles have rarely seen, and the degree of proficiency they displayed in their songs, movements and recitations demonstrated more clearly, if possible, than any part of the commencement exercises, the skill, patience and perseverance which must have been used by their teacher, who has shown herself here, as throughout her whole connection with the school, capable of discharging well whatever duty may be imposed. After this followed the calisthenic exercises of the whole school, with Miss Ada Durham at the piano, and Miss Ada Ashbrook, leader, who occupied a position on the teachers' platform in the study room of the Academy, and went through the drill with admirable precision, earnestness and grace. After the calisthenics came the oratorical exercises of the younger members of the school, which were of a satisfactory character.

The address of Dr. Merrell, of St. Louis, Tuesday evening, was able and timely, and listened to with unabated interest. The subject "Foundations" was presented in clear and forcible language, and impressed upon all the importance of laying solid foundations upon which to build the superstructure of enduring character, broad, exact and comprehensive enough for the increasing demands of the coming year.

Looking southwest from the amphitheatre in the fair grounds across the "Frisco" railroad, is plainly visible Mr. G. W. Collins' homestead. In company with a Kansas Dutchman, the writer visited Mr. Collins' hen ranch this week, and learned something of chicken culture. Before reaching the enclosure which usually confines the garden pests, we counted with one matronly hen 40 little henlets and roosterlets, all seemingly in good growing condition, and in a fair way to soon become a tender and profitable crop of spring chickens. On asking Mr. C. if the hen had more than 40 chickens left, we were informed that she had had unusually good luck, but a hen he had in the yard with 115 chickens, had originally 144, having sustained a loss of 29 since taking charge of the brood. By invitation from Mr. C. we went through his grounds and homestead, and in the latter place found many hens silently spread over nests containing fifteen eggs each, every one seemingly happy in anticipation of the time when, followed by the brood, she should be so fortunate as to find a worm, and the glory she should acquire by teaching the young ones the proper use of such spoils by quietly swallowing the dainty morsel after having carefully collected them together for the purpose. One old "dominick" of uncertain age, we thought from appearances might be dreaming of the time when, turned loose with a numerous flock, she might discover a garden freshly planted, needing cultivation, and, having time to spare, had undertaken the job, and was successfully bringing up the brood on short notice.

Mr. Collins' hens have proven profitable property from the beginning, and he thinks that by close attention, with his stock of 150 hens, he will be able to raise several chickens.

W. L. Trott, our lumberman, has been doing a big business lately. Besides furnishing the building material for residences put up in Vinita by Dr. Fortner and Mr. A. P. Goodykountz, he has shipped several carloads west, one of which was for Claremore, where Mr. Joseph Chambers is putting up a large drug store and Mr. Melner erecting a fine building.

The races on the grounds of the Vinita Fair Association began yesterday, with a large number of horses on the ground.

Card to the Public.

VINITA, I. T., June 18, 1884.
To the Voters of Cowlesville District:—Certain parties in the district, in order to get me for Council at the special election, are circulating the report that I have moved to Tahlequah, to make that my home. Such is not the case. Vinita, Cowlesville District, is my home, and always has been since I've been in the Nation. I have been at Tahlequah since Council, most of the time, since then, on a contract—that's all. According to those parties' statements, any person who accepts a position under our government, and here to stay at Tahlequah, at the special election on the 14th (next month) July, and if I am elected I will serve you faithfully to the best of my ability.

Very Truly, G. W. WALKER.
